MOTIVATION, LEARNING AND A BIT OF NEUROSCIENCE

ABSTRACT

Knowing what motivates students and how to increase or affect that motivation is a very powerful tool in teaching. In this session we will look at how the brain works and develops and how this can affect our students' motivation for learning.

ABOUT RICHARD TWIGG

Richard Twigg has over 20 years teaching experience in the U.K., Malta and Italy and has been a teacher/teacher trainer for the last 15 years. In 1998 he graduated from Huddersfield University with a Certificate in Education (Further Education). He was then a lecturer at York College before he moved to Malta in 2005, where he obtained his DELTA in 2007. He is currently the director of English Consultancy and Mediterranean Training and he works as a freelance teacher / teacher trainer in Italy and Malta.
